

Hope in Action

Purchase Food. Feed Families. Share Hope.

Hope in Action is New Hope Presbyterian Church's ongoing food ministry that makes it easy for everyone to care for neighbors in need. Members may bring shelf-stable food donations or purchase items directly from the Hope in Action shelves. All donated food is delivered to Katy Christian Ministries (KCM), while proceeds from purchased items are used to restock the shelves so the ministry continues to serve our community week after week.

Our Story

More than 20 years ago, members wanted a simpler way to participate in food drives. Hope in Action began as a small church store where members could purchase pantry items that were immediately donated to local families in need. The ministry flourished, providing food for KCM and Good Neighbor Bags for people seeking assistance, all while remaining self-supporting. After New Hope relocated to its new church home, the ministry reopened on Mother's Day 2026 under the name Hope in Action.

How It Works

- Choose how you'd like to help by bringing shelf-stable food or selecting an item from the Hope in Action shelves.
- Place your donated item in the wicker donation baskets.
- When the baskets are full, the food is delivered to Katy Christian Ministries.
- Donations received through store purchases are used to restock the shelves, allowing the cycle of giving to continue.

Why It Matters

Every can, box, and bag represents hope for someone in our community. By making giving convenient, Hope in Action encourages everyone to participate. As the ministry grows, additional funds may also be donated directly to KCM, extending the impact even further.
